OK... first, you need to register... we all like to know who we're talking to...

The image shows a screenshot of the Paguro website's registration process. At the top, the Paguro logo is on the left, and navigation links for 'Log in' and 'Register' are on the right. Below the logo is a search bar and a menu with categories like 'Moving abroad?', 'Expatriate Life', 'Destinations', 'Services', 'International Schools', 'Community', and 'Join'. The 'Community' link is highlighted in orange. A red arrow points from the 'Register' link to a 'Registration form' window that is overlaid on the page. The registration form contains fields for 'Full Name', 'User Name', and 'Location', each with a text input box and a label. A 'Register' button is at the bottom of the form. A cartoon character with red hair and glasses is positioned at the bottom left, with a speech bubble that says 'click "register" here' pointing to the 'Register' link in the navigation menu. Another speech bubble from the same character says 'then fill in the form' pointing to the registration form. In the bottom left corner, there is a large orange number '2'. In the bottom right corner, there is the text 'go' followed by a right-pointing arrow.

Paris the city of love, sure enough this is what I had in mind when my company posted me on assignment there. I was thrilled and so were my wife and my children. We all imagined a permanent holiday where we would venture and discover the city and its secrets with delight and anticipation. the first step was to read as many tourist guides as we could get our hands on to learn about what there

Eyes are still wet from the recent good-byes. The fatigue and the stress that accompany a move cannot be described in words. The amount of nights with less than four hours sleep surpass the number of fingers on one hand, then the other hand. . . Anyone who has experienced the process of leaving a country can sympathise, the others are classified in two categories:

- the ones that in disbelief ask you "How do you manage?" (You don't is the right answer!) and who think you are totally crazy;
- the ones who have no clue about how time consuming and involving both mentally and emotionally the process is and believe you overstate it, so make plans to get together for a chat and a cup of coffee as if everything is normal.
